Former Playmates Meet as Soldiers At Paris Program

Two Kingston boys who had not seen each other for two years since they entered the armed forces, met for the first time in Paris early this month. They were Bob Van Deusen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Van Deusen, of West Chestnut street, and Bill Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Baker of Montrose avenue.

The meeting of the two soldiers who had played together since childhood was described in a letter written by Bob Van Deusen to his parents. He wrote "I was in Paris the other night just walking around to see what was going on and I happened to be walking by the Rainbow Corner (American Red Cross) when I saw that the 28th Division Band was playing there.

"I remembered that Bill Baker played with that band, and I went in to see him. I found that he wasn't around, so I inquired about him and they told me that it was his night off, and that I could not see him until the next day.

"I wasn't satisfied with that and decided to go out looking for him. I looked all over and I was just about to give up and went into another Red Cross center to get some coffee and doughnuts when I found him there too.

"I walked up to him and slapped him on the back and he darn near keeled over he was so surprised to see me. We talked over old times for a long time, and decided to meet the next day, when I met him and we went to the Olympic Theatre and heard Glenn Miller's Band of the A.E.F. Bill had to play that night so we parted and I went back to camp."

Bob Van Deusen also wrote that he was in Paris on May 8, when the French celebrated the defeat of Germany. He said: "I arrived in Paris about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, May 8, and the streets at that time were jammed with people and you could hardly get around.

"All the buildings were decorated with the flags of the Allied nations and it really looked beautiful. About 7 o'clock that night the people really started to come out, and they really did. I never saw so many people at one time in my life.

"Everyone was kissing each other—G. I.'s included. It didn't seem to make much difference. At 9 o'clock they turned on the lights and I guess it was the first time the lights had been on in about five years, and the people darn near went crazy. All during this time, cars and people were moving up and down the streets cheering and singing all kinds of French songs. It seemed that everyone in Paris had the same idea, that was to march up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triumf and sing the Marseillaise, because that was what everyone was doing.

"They also turned the lights on at the Place de Concorde and they had spotlights on the huge fountains that are in the center of the Concorde, and it really was beautiful.

"The finest thing I saw was the Arc de Triumf; they had the four flags of the Allied Nations hanging in the center of the Arc with a huge blue spotlight shining on them and when they rpled in the wind it was a sight to remember.

"I wish that the folks back home could have seen it. This celebration went on all night and all the next day. For all I know they are still celebrating."

More Briar Pipes

London, May 22 (AP)—Pipe-smoking Britons were cheered today by the arrival from southern France of this country's first consignment of briar in five years. It was estimated the 40 tons of briar will make 250,000 pipes.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign News Analyst

Allied victory is crystallizing with increasing speed in all theatres of the war against Japan, and the perimeter of our attack is steadily contracting about the Mikado's home islands for the kill.

As President Truman said yesterday, we are "striking devastating blows in the Pacific" and "we are preparing to strike them later in overwhelming force." Chief interest of the moment centers in the bloody battle for Okinawa Island. In the Chinese occupation of the port of Foochow on the China coast opposite Okinawa, and in the report by the harassed Japanese that an Allied task force is headed toward southern Nippon, and just what would this mysterious task force be up to?

If traveling minstrels still sang the glories of fighting men we certainly should be hearing throughout our land the epic of Okinawa—one of the fiercest and most important battles of the war against Japan. There amidst the ancient fortifications of the Shoguns, American and Japanese forces are fighting at close quarters—often hand-to-hand with cold steel—for possession of this island which is one of the keys to the Japanese mainland, only 225 miles north.

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Tenth Army commander on Okinawa, says it will become a base "from which the death blow can be dealt to the Japanese empire."

From there our Superfortresses can ravage Nippon at will—and the air is going to play a mighty part in reducing the Japs to impotence.

The battle of Okinawa still has a sanguinary course to run, for the Japs are well dug in along their main line of defense across the southern end. This is a string of fortified ridges running from the capital city of Naha on the west coast, close to the ancient city of Shuri and on to Yonabaru on the east coast.

As things now look our Marines and infantrymen will have to kill every last Jap on the island—but the fate of the strategic position already is sealed. One of the most impressive aspects of this battle is the suicidal tenacity the Allies may encounter when they invade Nippon proper. If the Japs refuse to capitulate before we have smashed them into the ground we have some terrible fighting ahead of us. In this connection it's worth noting that Tokyo has mobilized the country's 20,000,000 school children and agricultural workers for defense against invasion.

We are moving steadily towards the time when our amphibious forces will invade the mainland. The Chinese capture of Foochow is an important stepping stone in this direction.

Kingston Officer Decorated Again

Lt. Col. J. W. Bidwell Is Cited for Heroism

With the Fourth Armored Division—Lieut. Col. James W. Bidwell, 40, husband of Mrs. Alice Bidwell, Lay street, Albany extension, Kingston, commander of the 704th Tank Destroyer Battalion, has been cited for heroic action for the second time in combat and awarded the Bronze Star Medal. The citation reads in part:

"The Bronze Star Medal is awarded to Colonel Bidwell for heroic action in connection with military operations against the enemy in Luxembourg and Germany. He continually exposed himself to enemy fire while checking gun positions and controlling the operations of his unit. Forward elements were continually subjected to shell and rocket fire yet Colonel Bidwell was constantly on the move between command posts and his position. His complete disregard for his own safety, his courage and devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States."

Colonel Bidwell fought in Normandy and northern France and received the Silver Star for gallantry before he joined the 4th Armored Division unit in December, 1944. He participated in the division's relief of besieged airborne troops at Bastogne, Belgium, and the 4th Armored's drive through central Germany.

Poughkeepsie Pastor Will Be Guest Speaker

The Rev. Earl Spencer, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Poughkeepsie, will be the guest speaker at the Church Family Night at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Thursday.

Mr. Spencer has been at the Poughkeepsie church for a little more than a year and has already won a place of leadership in the church life of the city. Before coming to this area he had a church in New Jersey.

The address will follow a potluck supper to which every family will contribute a share. The supper is to be served at 6:30 p. m. by Circle No. 4 of the Ladies' Aid Society. Everyone, including children, is welcome to this evening fellowship gathering.

Following the meal, the Rev. Arthur S. Cole will lead a devotional service including the singing of hymns. Special music will have a place on the program.

This is the fourth in a series of five Church Family Nights, all part of the emphasis that First Baptist Church people are putting upon home life this month.

19,000 Food Stores Are Short on Meat

Philadelphia, May 22 (AP)—Approximately 19,000 food stores in eastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey have only enough meat to supply one fourth of their customers, Fred S. Davis, executive secretary of the Food Distributors Association of the metropolitan trade area said yesterday.

"Only 25 per cent of the 24,000 stores in the area have anywhere near the normal meat supplies," Davis said. "The rest either have no meat at all or only enough for two full days of operation a week."

Meanwhile, O.P.A. announced it had ordered a widespread enforcement drive on violations of retail, wholesale and slaughtered meat prices "to stamp out Black Markets."

Heaviest Attacks Made on Formosa

Shuri, which one general said no longer is of military value.

Fierce action raged all yesterday along the fiery battlefield. The Yanks moved relentlessly ahead. Several counterattacks were bloodily repulsed. One of them was made by a large enemy force which included soldiers wearing American Marine uniforms and carrying U. S. weapons.

Taira Town, just north of Shuri, was taken by the 77th Infantry Division in the day's most spectacular gain.

Brig. Gen. Walter Dumas of the Tenth Army staff told Associated Press Correspondent Vern Hengel that Shuri, in the center of the line, no longer has military importance and the breakthrough to the city will not be followed by immediate occupation.

All high ground around Shuri, whose ancient castle fortress is shattered by shells and bombs, must be secured before any use can be made of that second city of Okinawa.

One of the heights yet to be taken is Half Moon Hill, a few hundred yards from dear-won Sugar Loaf Hill in the Sixth Marine sector on the west flank.

Half Moon Is Tunneled

Half Moon Hill is believed connected with Sugar Loaf Hill by tunnels. This means of reinforcement and supply aided the Japanese in driving the Marines off Sugar Loaf's summit ten times before the crest finally was held after the seventh attack.

The Fifth Regiment of the First Marine Division seized the Japanese from caves and holes on the south slope with flaming oil.

The First Marine Division under Maj. Gen. Pedro Del Valle, an artillery expert, gave the northern approaches to Shuri a night-long shelling in preparation for a tank-led advance.

General Del Valle noted a definite dropping off in Japanese artillery fire as observation posts on the ridges are captured by the relentless Yanks.

Three groups of suicidal Japanese carrying satchel demolition charges tried to take the waist ridge to destroy tanks of the First Marine Division but all were repulsed.

On the Okinawa east coast Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Infantry Division gained about 300 yards toward the bombed-out port city of Yonabaru. Other elements of the 96th moved westward toward Shuri to maintain pressure on the flank in a slow encirclement. Intense interlocking machinegun fire was encountered throughout the day.

About 35 planes Sunday evening made the first strong Japanese air attack on Okinawa shipping in several days. They damaged five light vessels in low-level sweeps. Nimitz reported. Twenty-six were shot down.

Sinatra Aides Deny Singer 'Bumped' Soldier

Mt. Vernon, Ill., May 22 (AP)—The manager and agent of Frank Sinatra came to his defense today after a homeward bound veteran of the Pacific war theatre said the singer had bumped him from an airliner because he held a higher priority.

Eugene E. Harshbarger, signalman 3/c, said that although he lost his seat at Los Angeles last Thursday night to Sinatra the radio-movie star, he would wish him at the airport until he was assured there would be a place on the next plane for the sailor.

In New York George Evans, Sinatra's agent, said Sinatra was traveling on a No. 3 priority under government orders and the singer had been alerted for an overseas U.S.O. trip.

Al Levy, Sinatra's manager, said in Hollywood that "Frank didn't bump anyone. He had had that priority for a long time. And he wasn't the only civilian by a longshot on the plane." He said Sinatra's schedule on his government assignment for the U.S.O. was called for him to be in New York for rehearsal Saturday. Otherwise, he said, Sinatra "would have stepped aside himself."

Price Revision Asked

Ithaca, N. Y., May 22 (AP)—An immediate upward revision of prices to farmers on white marrow, white kidney and yellow eye beans is asked by the New York State Farm Bureau Federation. E. S. Foster, federation general secretary, in a telegram to War Food Administrator Marvin Jones and W.F.A. Price Division Director H. B. Boyd, said yesterday that an increase in the acreage of dried beans would result if prices were more favorable.

Although the gross did not print figures on the export allocations—they've been marked confidential by the government—it is in its report general statistics showing that Britain's sugar stockpile at the start of this year was higher than its pre-war level, while the U. S. reserve is now lower than normal.

Barbara Brooks Makes Short Work of Prowler

New York, May 22 (AP)—Miss Barbara Brooks, 22, is a girl who doesn't care for strangers in her bedroom.

She told felony court that when she awoke yesterday morning at 3 o'clock to find a British merchant seaman seated half-clothed on her bed, she screamed and hit him on the jaw.

Then she beat his head on the floor several times, scratched his face, pulled his hair, pummeled him about the body, chased him (still half-clothed) out of the building and down the street, and, aided by a bus driver, took him prisoner.

The seaman, William Doran, 23, of Liverpool, appeared in court looking considerably battered. He eyed Miss Brooks blankly as she charged him with attempted rape, burglary and felonious assault.

Miss Brooks, who said her friends called her the athletic type, appeared unscathed.

A few parcels have more than one year's taxes as shown by the advertisement of each parcel. All properties are sold for the amount appearing in the advertisement as due, and if there is more than one bidder for the same parcel, such parcel is struck down to the person who bids the amount due for the least amount of land.

Women Lose Their Luxury

London, May 22 (AP)—The luxurious country mansion near Bremen where the mistresses of Heinrich Himmler's S.S. troops used to have their illegitimate children at the German state's expense has been taken over by the British Army as a rest home for troops. The War Office announced today.

The mansion was lavishly appointed, a War Office observer said, with 100 gaily decorated rooms and adjoining baths. It has more than 100 acres of ground with stables, garages, sun houses and gardens. Several women had to be moved out, the observer said.

First Army Soon Will Be Stalking Japanese Soldiers

Siegfried Line to lead the way across the Reich's frontier, the First seized and established the Remagen bridgehead over the Rhine.

Hodges' men, too, were the first to make junction with the Russians at the Elbe.

Hodges, a tough and resilient commander, has served over 40 years in the army. He worked his way up through the ranks from buck private.

The War Department's announcement last night said: "The divisions and army corps that fight with the First Army against Japan will not necessarily be the same as those that fought in Germany. However, enough veteran units and veteran personnel will take the field under General Hodges to insure the same vigorous assault against the Japanese as was made by the First Army against the Germans."

It was President Truman who in his first week in office went over the head of the army high command to give Hodges, along with George S. Patton, Jr., four-star rank.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, earlier had told senators Hodges and Patton couldn't be raised to full generals because they commanded only one army each, rather than an army group.

But Mr. Truman disagreed.

Actual exports totaled $20,310,457,000. In addition to the shipment to Russia, Britain received $12,775,392,000; Africa, the Middle East and Mediterranean area $3,813,058,000; China and India $2,023,339,000; Australia and New Zealand $1,257,089,000; Latin America $2,659,000 and other countries $805,025,000.

The report did not explain the difference between total and actual reports, except for a $4,164,606,000 item for "shipping and other services."

It estimated reverse lend-lease for 1944 at $2,531,672,000, bringing the total received by this country to January 1, 1945, to $4,656,616,000, of that amount $3,352,247,000 came from the United Kingdom.

Big Job Is Ahead In Philippines for Red Cross Workers

Honolulu, May 22 (AP)—Basil O'Connor, National Red Cross chairman said that a tremendous job faces the American Red Cross in the Philippines.

"After the Army retires from Manila a great piece of work will be required for the civilian population," he declared.

Philippine relief must be conducted with United States funds, he said, because the U.N.R.R.C. (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association) is not functioning in that area.

O'Connor will inspect Red Cross facilities at Iwo Jima, Okinawa and other Pacific areas before proceeding to Manila.
